Yachting Armada Gathers Early Off Sandy Hook To Witness The First Cup Race in Seventeen Years

Ideal Weather Conditions for Thirty-Mile Course Between Shamrock and Resolute—Each Sloop in Excellent
Trim, With Lipton Confident—Challenger Carries
Handicap Because of Sail Spread.

Sandy Hook, N.J., July 15.—A yachting armada gathered off the Hook Thursday for the first America's cup race in 17 years. Private craft, excursions boats and aeroplanes speeding southward from New York. They found nothing behind the great sand spit two sloops that are the rivals of Britain and the United States—Shamrock IV, challenger, with sleek green sides, and Resolute, defender, dazzling in her coat of white.

Aboard them were Captain William P. Burton and his crew of British tars, and Captain Charles Francis Adams II, of Boston, with his Yankee sailormen. White-clad figures sauntered, leaning the breeze for clouds that beckoned winds favorable or unfavorable.

The first accident in connection with the international yacht races occurred early Thursday, when a 46-foot launch bound for the course struck the Hook river and had to be beached. Only the skipper and his assistant were aboard at the time, and they were picked up at Gravesend Bay.

Clover and Katie Macosco in her almost barren sail, the Shamrock had started her moment. They comprise the wooden eagle that was on the victorious yacht America, and boxes of four leaf clovers from London and the United States. Sir Thomas Lipton, making his fourth attempt to lift the bottomless power mist, emblem of sailing supremacy of the sea, cast his eye to the weather and remarked:

"If the wind will hold its present strength, I'll cast nothing better for my race, challenger. The Shamrock in a fine boat and I hope to win." A gentle rain fell in the night and with clearing weather an even whole still became sprang up from the south-west that held true throughout the morning hours. Weather sharp and the breeze would haul more into the west by noon, which would give the sloop a direct beat to windward toward the Jersey coast, and a race home.

There was a gentle swell to the sea and not a created wave to be seen. Up With the Dawn Captain Burton had his crew on the deck, and before 6 o'clock a host of actions were on their way from the tender Kitharene to the challenger to remove sail covers and get heading up with ease.

"My opinion is that the first hour of today's race will tell the story of the America's cup contest," said the Shamrock's skipper. "We will know what each sloop can do." Skipper Adams also had the Resolute's crew early astir, and ready to make sail.

"We should have no complaint to make of the weather," said Captain Adams, "and I believe Resolute will give a good account of herself." The breeze was still holding directly out of the southwest at 6 o'clock at the start.

18 knots and lumber hockers offshore stood along to the seaward on the seaward tack making good time, which prompted a fast race for their better status the cup race slope.

Sailing conditions provided for a propitious start at 11:44, with the weather permitting, with a warning signal 15 minutes later.

The starting signal was not for 12 o'clock with a handicap time to be taken 20 minutes later.

Heading the Handicap
Captain Nicholson planned to carry a smaller club sail Thursday and reduce the heavy handicap which the Shamrock carries in allowing the Resolute a 20-minute allowance of seven minutes and one second in a 20-minute race.

This smaller looper is expected to reduce the Resolute's time allowance to six minutes and forty-six seconds. Shamrock must not only beat the American defender boat for best, but accumulate some time advantage over a 20-minute course to justify the allowance given the Resolute, because of her smaller sail and spool measurements.

Shamrock Holds First
Shamrock was the first to get up her mainmast which happened to get to the line that the handicap was to be taken at. The Resolute was a few feet of the line and seemed slightly larger than the Resolute's mainmast, which was hoisted shortly after.

The defender held her largest club sail, while the Irish sloop also carried up a club top of large area. The two races were swimmingly at their moorings awaiting a low to the starting line. The wind dropped out as the morning advanced and came in from the southwest about six knots in strength. Grey clouds came out from behind the Jersey headlands, screening the sun and giving a constant throb of rain.

Offshore the breeze was still holding directly out of the southwest at 6 o'clock at the start.

MRS. FISKE AT EMPIRE MONDAY

Mrs. Fiske's engagement at the Empress for three nights and a matinee beginning July 19 is destined to be the most interesting of the theatrical season, because it marks the appearance of America's foremost comedienne at her best in "The Night of St. Orleans." From the first matinee when "Mrs. Fiske" appeared as a middle-aged paragon, capable of a swift transition to the wilful, audacious and flirtatious belle that she was in '86 she has been making her reputation as a human belle. Her Southern woman life is beautifully charming, and artistically, she is Mrs. Fiske, the comedienne, but Mrs. Fiske we have never seen before.

NEW REGULATION FOR ALL TRAFFIC OVER HIGH LEVEL

All Traffic Will Now Enter the Bridge by the Western Route

In future all traffic proceeding over the high level bridge from the north side must enter the bridge from the western entrance, and those from the east side of the bridge must enter from the eastern entrance. This regulation is being enforced to prevent confusion and to ensure the safe flow of traffic.

Instructions to this effect have been issued by the police, and will be posted in the new regulation. Following the new regulation, the police proceeded to divert the traffic by way of the western entrance, and since then it has been decided that this way is to be adhered to, and the other way will be available to traffic coming north from the bridge.

Wheat Bank and Well Headed Throughout Many Districts Southwest

(Haulton Correspondent)
The whole country to the east and south from Edmonton to Redwood and around Galtburg, Tisdale, Carleton Place and Corralton, Waskia, Lacrosse and Red Deer, is in the state of promised harvest. Not for years has the crop outlook been so favorable. Towards Redwood and south in Carleton place, fields up to high, the heads touching each other. Wherever the seedling has been late the wheat and oats are naturally short but very thick and splendidly green. Rice in many fields measured well over a foot and a half in some places in 5 to 6 inches in the Battle river district.

Around Haulton, crops have suffered severely from hail last Friday, which of course, will reduce the yield. Everything before it, the hailstone has been a great help. The weather conditions are good, although some farmers say the weather is not so good as it was in the past. The crops are well along in the process of ripening.
